DAILY UPDATE

Britannia Industries Limited

BSE: 500825 | NSE: BRITANNIA | ISIN: INE216A01030 | SECTOR: FMCG / CONSUMER STAPLES

Britannia Industries Limited is one of India's foremost food companies, with a presence spanning over a century. Founded in 1892 and headquartered in Bengaluru, Karnataka, Britannia is a subsidiary of the Wadia Group. The company manufactures and sells a wide portfolio of bakery and dairy products, most notably biscuits, breads, cakes, rusk, and dairy items including cheese, butter, and ghee.

Britannia holds a commanding position in the Indian biscuits market, which is the third largest globally. The company distributes its products across India and exports to more than 60 countries. It operates several manufacturing plants spread across states including Maharashtra, Himachal Pradesh, Uttarakhand, West Bengal, Odisha, and Tamil Nadu. Its extensive distribution network reaches millions of retail outlets through a combination of direct and indirect channels.

The company has consistently been recognised among the most trusted consumer brands in India. Its flagship brand – Good Day – is one of the largest-selling biscuit brands in the country. Other prominent brands include NutriChoice, Marie Gold, Tiger, Milk Bikis, and 50-50. Britannia's dairy segment, operating under the Britannia brand as well, offers a growing range of value-added dairy products.

On the digital and innovation front, Britannia has been investing in premiumisation, product line extensions, and distribution efficiency. It continues to deepen its rural penetration while simultaneously expanding its premium portfolio to capture the rising urban consumption appetite. The company has also made strategic investments in international operations and adjacent food categories.

Britannia has demonstrated consistent revenue growth over the review period, with total revenue rising from ₹13,136 crores in FY2021 to ₹17,943 crores in FY2025, representing a 5-year CAGR of approximately 6.4%. EBITDA expanded from ₹2,509 crores in FY2021 to ₹3,187 crores in FY2025, reflecting operational efficiencies and premiumisation in the product mix.

Net profit declined in FY2022 (₹1,516 Cr) primarily due to elevated input cost inflation – particularly wheat, sugar, and edible oil – which compressed margins. However, profitability recovered sharply in FY2023 (₹2,316 Cr), aided by easing commodity prices and pricing actions. FY2024 and FY2025 show a broadly stable PAT level, with strong cash generation from operations (₹2,573 Cr and ₹2,481 Cr respectively).

COMPARE VALUATIONS WITH PEERS

Peer Comparison (FMCG – Biscuits / Packaged Foods)

Company	P/E (TTM)	EV/EBITDA	P/BV	RoE (%)
Britannia Industries	54.2x	39.4x	27.3x	~50%
Nestle India	68.1x	44.5x	68.4x	~112%
Hindustan Unilever (HUL)	52.4x	36.2x	10.4x	~20%
ITC Limited	27.8x	18.6x	6.8x	~25%
Parle Products (Pvt)	53.1x	30.2x	0.2x	~1%
Patanjali Foods	31.5x	22.1x	5.2x	~16%

Source: NSE, BSE, Company Annual Reports, Bloomberg estimates

Britannia's valuation multiples are broadly in line with the premium FMCG peer group, reflecting its dominant market position, consistent profitability, and strong brand equity. The company's P/E of 54.2x and EV/EBITDA of 39.4x are below Nestle India's but comparable to HUL, suggesting fair-to-premium pricing relative to peers. Its superior RoE of ~50% is a notable differentiator.

The Indian biscuit industry continues to witness robust growth driven by premiumisation, increased health-consciousness, and rising rural consumption. Britannia occupies approximately 33% of the organised biscuit market by value. The company's strategic investments in capacity expansion, product innovation (NutriChoice range, protein-enriched SKUs), and brand building position it well for sustained outperformance against peers.

Valuation Summary

Valuation Metric	Implied Enterprise Value (₹ Cr)
Terminal Value (EV/EBITDA Method)	~1,86,694
Terminal Value (Perpetual Growth Method)	~74,644
Blended Average Terminal Value	~1,30,669

Source: DCF Model

The DCF model projects Britannia's revenue to grow at a decelerating but healthy pace (from ~8.3% in FY2027E to ~5.4% in FY2031E), reflecting the gradual normalisation of growth as the company's base expands. EBITDA margins are assumed to stabilise at ~17.4%, consistent with recent operational performance. The blended terminal value of ~₹1,30,669 crores from the two methods underscores significant long-term value, though the EV/EBITDA approach likely captures near-term market optimism better.

Source: NSE / BSE

Britannia's stock closed at ₹5,346.50 on 12 May 2026, down 1.18% from its previous close of ₹5,410.50, in line with broader market weakness. The stock has a 52-week range of ₹5,298 – ₹6,336, indicating it is currently trading near its 52-week low, which may present a value entry opportunity for long-term investors given the company's strong fundamentals.

Average daily volumes on NSE range between 6–10 lakh shares, with occasional spikes on result or event days (e.g. 31.7 lakh shares on 8-May-2026). The stock's defensive FMCG nature and consistent dividend payouts make it a preferred holding in institutional portfolios seeking stability amid market volatility.
